

OBITUARY

JASON SA'OMOANA GIUSANGA

1921 - 11/12/2008

It's been a year since you peacefully passed on in the arms of your loving wife, Mrs Noapua Sanga in our presence on the 11th December 2008.

It's been a year since your passing came to us as a stark reminder of man's mortal nature. But that in the face of death and bereavement, the knowledge that you rest peacefully with your Lord and creator was comforting.

We shall cherish in our hearts the love and respect of your memories as husband, father, grandfather, uncle, relative, friend and mentor.

Your presence is missed by all members of the family both here and abroad.

My you rest in peace with our Lord.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

On behalf of mum, Mrs. No'apua Sanga, brothers, sisters and children, I wish to take this opportunity to acknowledge the invaluable support of the countless relatives and friends who stood with us in the darkest moments of our lives in the passing away of our dear husband, father, grandfather and uncle, Jason Sa'omoana Giusanga.

I wish to make particular mention of the followings for the significant contributions in cash and kind to ensure the family is able to return his body to his final resting place at Tepoogima, Bellona Island, and for making the funeral proceedings dignified:-

The many more relatives and friends who merely found the time to be around and those who helped Johnny Tuhaika out in the cementing of the grave, but who would not be named for want of space, are all remembered in our heart. The family can only extend to you our warmest gratitude and 'haka 'aue'.

May all your prayers and condolences at our loss be a constant reminder of the very family values that we must foster to sustain peace and commitments to each other.

May God be our guide and protector.

Nohonga tamau.
